HISTOPATHOLOGY

Official Journal of the British Division of the International Academy of Pathology

Editor: Professor R N M MacSween, Western Infirmary, Glasgow, UK

The prime purpose of Histopathology is to publish original histopathological material having clinical application in the study of human disease. The journal is designed to be of practical importance to the diagnostic histopathologist and to investigative workers in clinicopathological fields of study contributing to the better understanding of disease in man. Each issue of the journal contains articles which relate to the histopathological diagnoses based on standard histological techniques, immunohistochemistry and ultrastructural investigations. The journal also carries review articles and case reports from time to time. In addition, there are regular commentaries highlighting important recent advances which have been made in the discipline.
