significance in various diseases. Clinical and pathological aspects of the post-gastrectomy and blind-loop syndromes are considered by three speakers, and it could be salutary to reflect on a numerical fact that is quoted, namely, that approximately 25,000 partial gastrectomies are being performed each year in England and Wales. Accounts are given of recent work on radiological appearances and intestinal immunity, and of experimental work on the role of the intestine in shock. The final papers are by invited speakers with special interests in Crohn's disease, Whipple's disease, and the clinical and biochemical aspects of the carcinoid syndrome.

All the papers in this volume are readable and informative but illustrations are few and consist only of tables and diagrams. The absence of photomicrographs is keenly felt in some of the chapters as just a few selected examples would have enhanced the value of these sections. Overall however, this is a valuable book which provides a useful summary of much recent knowledge of the small intestine.

THIRD INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF NEPHROLOGY

The third international congress of nephrology to promote exchange of information on basic and clinical sciences relating to the kidney will be held from 25 to 30 September 1966, in Washington, D.C. Full information, and forms for submission of abstracts, registrations, and hotel reservations, may be obtained from:—Secretariat, III International Congress of Nephrology, 9650 Wisconsin Avenue, Washington, D.C., U.S.A.

VI INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF CLINICAL PATHOLOGY

The sixth international congress of clinical pathology will be held in Rome from 3 to 8 October 1966 under the sponsorship of the International Society of Clinical Pathology. There will be lectures, symposia, round-table conferences, original communications, scientific demonstrations, and films. Official languages will be Italian, English, and French. All enquiries should be addressed to:—Segreteria del VI Congresso Internazionale di Patologia Clinica, Via dei Penitenzieri 13, Roma, Italy.

The March 1966 Issue

THE MARCH 1966 ISSUE CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING PAPERS

Pathological and clinical findings in a series of 67 cases of medullary carcinoma of the thyroid E. D. WILLIAMS, C. L. BROWN, and I. DONIACH

Histogenesis of medullary carcinoma of the thyroid E. D. WILLIAMS

Review of endocrine syndromes associated with tumours of non-endocrine origin C. B. HOBBS and A. L. MILLER

Assessment of the combined usefulness in thyroid function testing of the triiodothyronine resin-sponge and 24-hour iodine uptakes R. A. CARTER

Haemangiomas of the placenta H. FOX

Synthetic progestagen-oestrogen preparations and endometrial morphology WILLIAM B. OBER

Effect of aggregating agents and their inhibitors on the mean platelet shape J. R. O'BRIEN and JOAN B. HEYWOOD

Effects on blood coagulation, fibrinolysis, and platelet aggregation of normal and atheromatous aortic tissue C. R. M. PRENTICE, G. P. MCNICOL, and A. S. DOUGLAS

Differential ferroxiamine test in idiopathic haemochromatosis and transfusional haemosiderosis J. FIELDING, M. C. O'SHAUGHNESSY, and GILLIAN M. BRUNSTRÖM

Effects of desferrioxamine in patients with iron-loading with a simple method for estimating urinary iron M. S. LOSOWSKY

Low plasma haptoglobin in march haemoglobinuria R. B. PAYNE

Significance of tests of iron nutrition in pregnancy J. METZ, L. TURCHETTI, B. COMBRINK, and S. KRAWITZ

Human infection due to the hedgehog fungus, Trichophyton mentagrophytes var. erinacei R. A. QUAIFE

A comparison of Coomassie blue dye with radioiodinated albumin as an indicator for plasma volume estimation in human subjects IAN S. MENZIES

Antiplasmin activity of electrophoretically separated human serum fractions R. D. MANN, SUSAN COTTON, and D. JACKSON

Howell-Jolly bodies in idiopathic steatorrhoea I. D. FRASER, C. F. MCCARTHY, and A. E. READ

Fatty crystals in sclerema neonatorum C. PROKŠ and V. VALVODA

Effect of ethylene-diamine-tetra-acetic acid (dipotassium salt) and heparin on the estimation of packed cell volume C. A. PENNOCK and K. W. JONES

Technical methods

Simple colour reaction for alkaptonuria K. VALMIKINATHAN and NINAN VERGHESE

Simple method for measuring the penetration of antibiotics through mucus B. A. SAGGERS

Simple data analyser for laboratory statistics PETER A. CLARK
