One Man's Medicine

An autobiography of Professor Archie Cochrane

Archibald L Cochrane with Max Blythe

Professor Archie Cochrane was a leading medical scientist for more than a quarter of a century. His thirty years' association with the Rhondda Fach – and his work there on reducing the suffering inflicted on whole communities by pneumoconiosis – is almost legendary, leading as it did to radical rethinking on the quality of health care and health services. This autobiography covers the twists and turns in his career which led to the insight of Effectiveness and Efficiency, his internationally acclaimed text on health services, published in 1972.

"... as pleasurable to read as a well constructed novel."
Sir Richard Doll

"... an inspiring statement of what being a twentieth century doctor ought to mean, clinically, intellectually, and morally." David Widgery

WANT TO GET YOUR PAPERS PUBLISHED?

Read this first!

How to Write a Paper tells you all you need to know to get a paper accepted for publication. Edited by George M Hall, with contributions from editors of international journals such as the BMJ, British Journal of Anaesthesia and Cardiovascular Research, it explains in refreshingly direct style what journal editors are looking for in a good paper.

Contents cover:

- How to approach the various sections of a scientific paper – abstract, introduction, methods, results, discussion, and references
- How to write case reports and reviews
- The publishing process – the role of the editor, assessor, publisher, house style and electronic publishing

When disaster strikes

How would you cope with:
 A plane crash?
 A terrorist attack?
 A crowd disaster?

- This practical guide:
- Provides clear guidance on rescuing and treating victims, planning and organisation of rescue teams, and post-disaster management of victims' social and psychological needs.
 - Gives advice on the clinical management of bone, soft tissue, crush asphyxia injuries, and burns.
 - Looks at ways of minimising the risk of injury for the future.
 - Includes examples of real life emergency plans.

Written by a team of authors with first hand experience of dealing with major incidents such as the M1 plane crash, Hillsborough football disaster, and the Northern Ireland troubles, this clearly written book will help all accident and emergency staff, doctors, rescue services, and hospital managers in planning for both the organisational and clinical aspects of disaster management.

How do you...

Persuade a government to ban tobacco advertising?

Campaign against dumping of toxic waste?

Energise the fight against AIDS?

In The Fight for Public Health, Simon Chapman and Deborah Lupton show how lobbying through media advocacy can be a powerful tool in mobilising public support and getting public health legislation passed. Illustrated with photographs and crammed with compelling examples from around the world, this lively and entertaining guide:

- Describes what advocacy is
- Shows how public opinion has influenced public health policy in the past
- Includes an A-Z of strategies for gaining media attention.

"This splendid book moves the art of media advocacy a giant step forward. Chapman and Lupton's counsel leapfrogs continents; it will be as welcome and applicable in London and Washington as in Sydney."

Michael Pertschuk, Director, The Advocacy Institute, Washington, DC
