

AUDIT IN ACTION

From a minority interest to an integral part of good medical practice, audit has come a long way. Audit in Action traces this development in a selection of articles originally published in the BMJ. Topics range from practical aspects of starting to audit to the wider aspects of achieving quality based on experience in the United States and Europe. The contributors are leaders in or experienced practitioners of audit. Covering audit both in hospitals and in general practice, Audit in Action is valuable reading for all those concerned to improve the quality of health care.

MSc in Histopathology

Applications are invited for a new full-time postgraduate course in Histopathology, lasting one calendar year, leading to the University of London MSc degree in Histopathology. It will provide comprehensive coverage of both diagnostic and experimental pathology including cellular and molecular pathology. The aim of the course is to encourage interest in pathological research, whilst also giving a training in basic principles of diagnostic histopathology and cytopathology.

There will be a 22 week formal taught course, followed by a research project which will be designed to allow the student to make an original contribution in the chosen area of research.

The course will be suitable for students with a background in medicine, dentistry, veterinary science or basic science, but previous experience in histopathology would be an advantage. It will be offered biennially, beginning in September 1995.

Application forms and further particulars are available from: The School Registry, Royal Postgraduate Medical School, Du Cane Road, London W12 0NN.
